Fremont

The first ever InDiva, The search for the Media Personality, “Face and Voice of Tomorrow” – was hosted at the Gary Smith Center, Ohlone College, Fremont. Conceptualized, produced and directed by Rennu Dhillon of Genius Kids, the event was in collaboration with Sheetal Ohri and WomenNow TV. About 350 people had a truly entertaining evening as 11 young women of all ages competed and vied for the title of InDiva 2011.

An evening of glamour and entertainment, the show was meticulously produced and well organized beginning right on schedule with an emotional rendition of Michal Jackson’s “Heal the World” presented by over 40+ students of Genius Kids. The students dedicated the show and song to the recent victims of the Tsumani disaster in Japan. Other scintillating performances include a gypsy dance by Aerodance Dance, an upbeat Hip Hop performance by Staarz Dance, and Bollywood numbers by Rhythm-N- Steps. A special performance by Samir Date, Bollywood singer and performer in sync with dancers from Rhythm.N-Steps.
